

PROBLEM STATEMENT

OF HR DATA SET

Employee Attrition Challenges:

The company is experiencing significant challenges due to employee attrition. This issue has resulted in increased costs, reduced productivity, and a negative impact on overall business performance. To tackle this problem, a data-driven approach is essential to identify the root causes of attrition and to implement effective retention strategies impact on overall business performance. To address this issue, a data-driven approach is necessary to identify the root causes of attrition and implement effective retention strategies.